SUE STRICKLER, editor-in-chief

The Class of 1961 proudly dedicates

Mr. J. Wallace Bolding

this seventh volume of the Antenna

to Mr. J. W. Bolding

Students gathered much profitable learning in Mr. Bolding's classes, which he always keeps informal and friendly.

Since Mr. Bolding came to Annandale High School in its opening year, 1955, he has merited the respect and friendship of the student body and administration of the school. From the day he arrived he has worked to build Annandale into a school of which each of us is proud.

Many of us felt Mr. Bolding's forceful thinking in his freshman English classes when he taught us our first thorough course in English grammar. He has demonstrated his high character not only in the classroom, but also on the athletic field. As our coach, he has taught us good sportsmanship and helped our athletic teams to grow to fame.

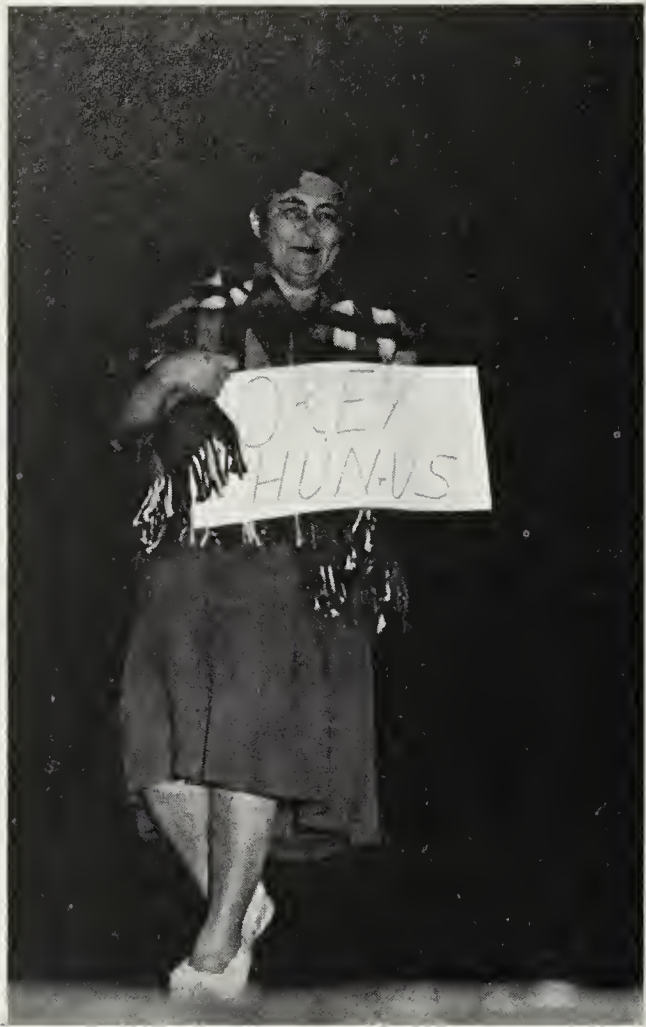

This year Mr. Bolding's unrelenting work helped the greatest hope of the Class of 1961, and past graduating classes come true. His guidance and unselfish effort changed our hope into a reality—our new stadium.

Mr. Bolding, the Senior Class deeply thanks you for the invaluable time you have spent with us in the classroom, on the athletic field, and in the guidance office; but above all we thank you for being our friend during our past years at Annandale.

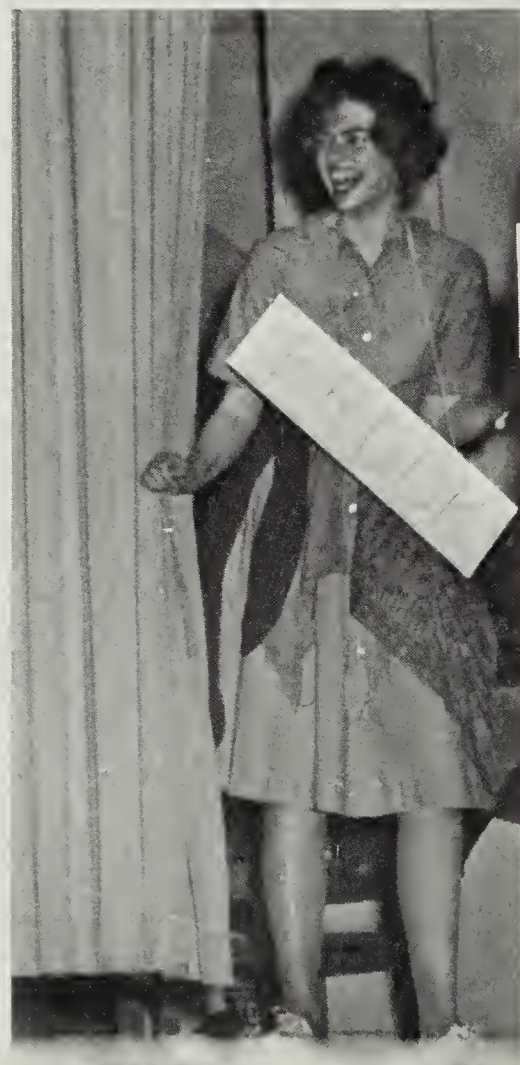

As basketball coach, Mr. Bolding helped his team members grow to be individuals, yet members of a well-organized team.

RALPH E. BUCKLEY, Principal

This publication marks the end of another school year—our seventh. Each school closing has its greatest impact on the members of our graduating class, since they are arriving at the first major intersection of life.

Graduation is a time of decision, and each individual must make his own choice—that of looking to the past with longing or facing the future with hope. Hope is imperative if you are to make the most of your life. Courage to move on, faith to look ahead, and hope to anticipate are tools for the life in search of victory.

Guidance

Guidance is a department with which the students at Annandale have less contact than they do with other departments. Nevertheless, guidance is still a highly important department, playing a vital role in the lives of the students. The efforts of the guidance counselors to help them iron out scheduling difficulties are both greatly needed and appreciated.

In Memoriam

MRS. RUTH KOEHLER

On September 3 of last year, Annandale suffered a great loss through the death of Mrs. Ruth Koehler. Mrs. Koehler joined the faculty at the beginning of the 1957-1958 school year and served until her death as a teacher of freshman English. During her three years here, she gave many students their first taste of high school English, and her ability and understanding made this introduction a pleasant one. For those of us at Annandale who knew her, Mrs. Koehler will always have a prominent place in our memories.

Also during the past year, Annandale suffered a second loss. Mr. William Eccles, a teacher here from 1956 to 1958 and again during the 1959-1960 school year, died suddenly on July 27. As a member of the mathematics department, Mr. Eccles used his skill as a teacher and his understanding of students' problems to guide many of us through a year or two of math or algebra. Those of us here at Annandale who knew Mr. Eccles will always retain pleasant memories of him as a teacher and friend.

High school has many facets, and in teaching each of them the members of Annandale's English Department have amply demonstrated their ability. Whether it be in introducing a freshman English class to poetry or in guiding a class of seniors through Shakespeare's tragedies, Annandale's English teachers give freely of their time and talents in order to make high school more rewarding for the students.

Language

At Annandale, the Foreign Language Department encompasses French, German, Latin, and Spanish. Annandale is fortunate in having the excellent teachers that it does have in these languages, for the learning of a new language is no simple matter, and a student needs much expert instruction during his introduction to a foreign tongue. This instruction is ably provided at Annandale by the teachers of the Foreign Language Department.

For this the students can be deeply grateful.

Social Studies

In this modern world the social studies have become increasingly more important. For this reason Annandale is fortunate to have an energetic Social Studies Department. The teachers of this department give the students of Annandale excellent instruction in the fields of geography, history, government, sociology, and economics, and, in so doing, they greatly help to prepare them for the future.

Science too is a highly important subject. Biology, chemistry, physics—all are equally vital in this day and age, and all require competent people to teach them. Annandale has these efficient teachers. Whether they are explaining photosynthesis to a biology class or giving advice on physics projects for a science fair, Annandale's science teachers succeed in imparting knowledge to the students.

It is the job of the Physical Education Department at Annandale to see that the physical well being of the students is not neglected, and to that end the teachers of that department give the students expert instruction in health, in physical education, and in other related subjects.

A good library is an essential part of a high school. Annandale is therefore fortunate to have efficient librarians who not only run the library well, but who are also always ready to help students obtain the most benefit from it.

Responsibility for giving Annandale's students instruction in the industrial arts and in the arts of the home lies with the Shop Department and the Home Economics Department respectively. Annandale High School's Student Council Association has as its goal the improvement of the school. In previous years the association has been most successful in its efforts. During this last year it attempted to work still more and better improvements by working even more closely and effectively with the entire student body.

Early in September the Student Council sponsored a faculty tea for the purpose of welcoming all new teachers to Annandale. This was followed by the Homecoming Dance held the next month.

Some other endeavors of the Student Council were the several assemblies that it produced. Prominent among these were an assembly featuring several foreign exchange students as speakers, an honor assembly, and assemblies to start the various fund-raising drives headed by the Student Council.

Annandale's annual Magazine Drive was, as usual, the most important of the Student Council sponsored drives. However, there were also the Christmas Welfare Drive, the March of Dimes, and the Easter Seal Drives.

Finally, the Student Council also engaged in many other activities during the year, the most important of which were the revising of the school constitution and the revival of Annandale's Honor System.

"I dreamed I was a maharaja in my polka-dot pajamas," quips Sarge York as he prophesizes a Dark Horse victory to Mike Meloy.

"The old Dark Horse he ain't what he used to be, ain't what he used to be . . ." An unfamiliar chant rose from white clad figures trudging mournfully down the aisle, carrying a dead horse (paper mache, of course), during the October Magazine Drive assembly. But on stage off came this mournful guise and boy cheerleaders and girl football players, with the help of Bob "Uncle Sam" Blankenbaker, forecast Independent victory. However, Dark Horse leader Mike Meloy was not so sure of their success and consulted turbaned maharaja Sarge York. After Mike had crossed the prophets palm with silver the crystal ball cleared and foretold of Dark Horse triumphs. Following a rough battle the crystal ball's prediction came true and the Dark Horses galloped away with all the prizes!

The Annandale Key Club, along with its brother organization, the Annandale Kiwanis, enjoyed quite a successful year. The major undertaking was a complete reorganization of the club, which included a revision of the outdated constitution. Besides operating the school supply store and selling saving stamps, the club contributed to school and community welfare drives. For the first time, a scholarship fund was raised and awarded to a worthy member.

One of the most active honor societies in school, the Societe Honoraire Francaise held its annual French Christmas Bazaar, induction, and field trip for members. The Christmas Bazaar was a huge success since most of the items were sent directly from France by last year's French foreign exchange student, Martine Rachlet. Inductions were held in March and in April old and new members took a field trip to see Moliere's comedy "School for Wives" presented in French at Lisner Auditorium. They also enjoyed French cuisine at Bonat's in Washington. At the end of the year the officers prepared a summary of rules and projects for next year's officers and the new sponsor.

The German Honor Society is the newest of Annandale's honor societies. It was established in May, 1960 to honor those students who have achieved excellence in the study of German and who have demonstrated an interest in furthering German-American understanding. Being a young organization, it has been difficult to have as varied a program as will eventually be. During the year, the German Honor Society had election of officers and induction of new members, and sponsored a field trip to a German Restaurant and movie.

Annandale's talent proved to be bursting at the seams this year as the Talent Show, sponsored by the Choral Department, continued for two full periods. The judges made their decisions after watching the entertaining show, and handed first prize to Jolene Harrington, a senior who came to Annandale from Hawaii this year. She learned the gourd dance from the people of our fiftieth state. Anne Haycock, a junior and an excellent pianist was awarded second place for her amazing talent; and Pat Dean won third for her pantomime of "I Can't Say No" from the musical show Oklahoma.

heightened by our A. F. S. students,

"Eia xapa," "Guten tag" and "Hyvoa paivua" were some of the ways in which Annandale's three foreign exchange students extended their greetings to Annandale High School this year.

First to arrive were Philio Comiti, from Athens, Greece, and Ludwig Meis, from Hamburg, Germany. Philio was here under the auspices of the American Field Service. She stayed with Barbara Richards and her family for one school year, learning about the American way of life, and at the end of that year returned to Greece.

Ludwig's stay at Annandale was sponsored by the International Christian Youth Exchange. He lived here for a year with the family of John Cumberland while John stayed with Ludwig's family in Germany.

Last to arrive at Annandale was Birgitta Jansson, from Virkby, Finland. Also participating in the American Field Service program, Birgitta spent the year with Sherry Thomas.

Another exchange student at Annandale was Diane Bruce, who, unlike the other three, is an American girl who spent last summer living with a Danish family in Odense, Denmark. Diane was participating in a second type of American Field Service program, in which American students spend a summer living abroad.

Birgitta Jansson, Philio Comiti, and Diane Bruce, our foreign exchange students, share their various experiences.

Ludwig Meiss, our exchange student from Germany, proved to be an excellent athlete and gained many friends because of his amiable nature.

to school and community service;

Expanding during the past year, the Tri-Hi-Y Club not only increased its activities, but also its membership. In order to keep the group small enough to work efficiently, the girls divided into their separate Tri-Hi-Y's according to classes. The seniors retained the name of Alpha, while the juniors became Beta and the sophomores became Gamma. The girls spent much of the first semester organizing the different clubs. A formal induction for the senior club was held, and in the early spring the Alpha Club inducted the Beta and Gamma Tri-Hi-Y's.

Bake sales were counted as the club's greatest money-making activities. Their service activities included collecting food and clothing for the needy and presenting a program for children in a nearby orphanage. The clubs were proud to send representatives to the U.M.C. model General Assembly in Richmond last spring. Representatives spent three days in the state capital learning how the state government is organized and how it is able to function.

To provide students interested in becoming teachers with a chance to meet and to learn about their future profession: this is the purpose of the Future Teachers of America. In connection with this aim, Annandale's chapter of the Future Teachers has set up a scholarship for some senior who is planning to enter the teaching profession. It has also contributed to a school for retarded children.

Another organization composed of the future members of a certain field of work is the future Business Leaders of America. Its purpose is to bring together those students who plan to enter the world of business. Its most important undertakings this year were the Northern Virginia Business Contest, which was held here at Annandale, and the Regional Convention, which was held at Mary Washington College.

Annandale's third club for students planning on entering a particular field is the Future Homemakers of America. Its purpose is to give students who intend to become homemakers a chance to get together. Among its many projects this year were a fashion show, a box lunch picnic, and several welfare projects.

Embarking from the ramps of two jet airliners on our stage, sixty-six of our loveliest young ladies tried for the title of Miss Annandale. This year's theme for the Spring Festival of Beauty and Fashion was "Travel" with decor furnished by the leading airlines of the world. Jelleff's, one of the country's noted centers for women's clothing, provided fashions for the show.

Heading the panel of fine judges was the world famous free-lance photographer, Charles Baptie.

Six straight victories . . .

"Look out for the Atoms!" was the cry as the 1960 season opened. All the so-called experts predicted a close race between Wakefield, Washington-Lee, and Annandale for the Northern District Group I title, copped in 1959 by the Atoms. Local sportswriters said that a good first team and strong reserves would pull it out again for Coach Ed Henry, and we waited anxiously to see if they would prove to be right.

An inspired George Washington team, out for revenge for two previous shutouts, provided the opposition in our opening game. But led by Sonny Utz's three touchdowns the Atoms rolled past the Presidents by a 26-0 count. Tom Baird iced the cake with a 58 yard touchdown run late in the third quarter, and the Bandits played their usual good game on defense.

Falls Church was 'up' but could not overcome the Atom's power and finally succumbed, 20-12. Scott Swan, Steve Sears, and Sonny Utz each scored a touchdown as we piled up a twenty point lead, and the Bandits held up a hungry Jaguar offense to save the game.

Sonny Utz stopped by Jaguar tackler after picking up a first down.

Tom Reppert holds the Admirals' Arehart to no gain.

A powerful Hammond team sought to trample the Atoms' title hopes behind their All-Metropolitan back Tom Arehart, but Scott Swan scored a fourth period touchdown to defeat the Admirals, 13-7. Sonny Utz had taken a short pass from 'Tippy' Moore and run 51 yards for a touchdown to give us an early advantage before the Sailors tied it up. The Bandits held Hammond's potent offense in their own territory for much of the game.

Wakefield's Warriors again attempted to jinx the Atoms but were repulsed by a 12-6 score. With Sonny Utz out with an injury, Steve Sears took up the slack and scored both touchdowns while gaining 129 yards for a 5 yard-per-carry average. John Ball, Wakefield's State sprint champion, scored their six-pointer on an 80 yard jaunt, but the tenacious Bandits stifled the Warriors most of the game.

The Atoms now stood atop the heap with a 4-0 record, but McLean's Highlanders posed a serious challenge. Unbeaten themselves, they sought to end our string of 19 games without a loss and claim first place with the season half gone. This game promised to be a duel between Sonny Utz and McLean's Elliot McBride and a rough afternoon for both teams.

Sonny Utz squirms away from a would-be tackler.

As predicted, the game was rough, but the Atoms again triumphed, 14-12. After the brawny lads from McLean had taken an early lead, the Atoms came back with a half-ending pass from Dick Moore to Sonny Utz and Scott Swan pushed over the tie-breaking extra point. This procedure was repeated early in the fourth quarter, but the Highlanders fought back for another score to make our margin of victory Swan's two extra points.

The new stadium was dedicated with a smashing 27-13 defeat of Groveton. Our first home game in three years saw Sears, Swan, and Utz score first period touchdowns to put the game out of reach. The Bandits, led by Sam Strickland, kept the Tigers bottled up in their own territory most of the game.

Two stalwart Bandits, Tom Baird and John Atherton, bring down a W-L back.

W-L's vaunted Generals were our next opponents, and they proved to be a formidable crew as they terminated the eleven game Annandale winning streak with a 13-0 victory. Four failures to make short yardage on last down were the undoing of the Atom offense, while W-L sneaked through the Bandits for two 'bombs'.

Mt. Vernon's Majors were next, and they fell with a resounding crash, 20-7. Scott Swan scooted across to give us a 6-0 lead, but the Majors capitalized on an inexperienced Annandale pass defense to grab a 7-6 lead at halftime. The Atoms came back in the second half with two touchdowns by Sonny Utz, and a brilliant defense, led by Sam Strickland at middle guard, held the Majors to 29 yards rushing and intercepted three passes.

a successful result, 8-1.

Sonny Utz stymies a Major pass receiver.

Sonny Utz eludes a Fairfax defender.

Fairfax's Rebels came to visit and went home on the short end of a 7-0 score. This game, a battle of two sturdy defenses, was in doubt until the gun went off. Annandale scored in the second quarter on a 55 yard sustained drive, with quarterback Dick Moore sneaking across for the touchdown and Sonny Utz adding the extra point. The Atoms were unable to move the ball well during the second half and called on the Bandits to preserve the victory. Fairfax drove to the Annandale two yard line with seconds left in the game, only to see Utz jar the ball loose with a jarring tackle on Rebel halfback Williams; John Atherton fell on the ball as the game ended.

And so another successful season came to a close, with Mr. Henry leading his charges to an 8-1 record and a fourth straight County championship. We are all proud of the skill and sportsmanship shown by this year's Atoms, and their fine record as well.

Annandale High School is honored to recognize the Varsity Football Squad. Annandale can indeed be proud of the winning teams our school has produced. On these teams have been boys such as Mike Haycock, Joe Davies, Tom Graham, Dana Wellman, and Doug Brown who have carried the Annandale tradition of good football still further. These are individuals but they were part of a team; teams of which our school can be proud. As long as we have a coach as fine as Ed Henry, and as long as we support our winning teams in the manner in which they are accustomed to, Annandale High School will always have a Team! Congratulations boys, for a job well done. We're proud of you!

This year Annandale High had one of its more successful Junior Varsity Football Squads. The Junior Atoms compiled an exceptional 4-1-1 record which gave them a tie for second place in Northern Virginia Group I League play during the 1960 season.

In preparation for Annandale Varsity's two platoon system, Coaches Scott and Smith stressed offensive and defensive specialization, general fundamentals, and just plain knockin'. Congratulations coaches, for a good season and a well-coached team.

In order to achieve a winning season the boys worked as a team but there were a few standouts. Richard Monroe, Tom Swan, Jack Richardson, and Vernie Gordon did some good running while Rich Lawton, Porky Andrews, and Jimmy Higgins bore the brunt of the attack up front.

AHS established Freshman Football

This year Annandale High initiated a new phase of her athletic program, that of Freshman Football. Coaches Bolding and Shriver did an excellent job as the young gridders posted a 4-2 record.

The freshman team won its opening game with a respectable 19-0 defeat of the Lee Lancers. The following two games proved disappointing as they lost 9-6 to McLean and 6-0 to Mount Vernon. Undismayed, they bounced back and beat the Groveton Tigers 19-6 and the JEB Stuart Raiders 19-0. To round out an excellent first season, a fired up Atom squad walloped the Osbourn Yellow Jackets, 31-12.

Varsity coach Ed Henry kept a sharp eye peeled as several boys on the team showed much promise as upcoming Varsity material. Backfield specialists Jim Lambert and Len Opeil scored 33 and 30 points respectively, while Larry Parthree and Doug Tibbetts opened some mammoth holes in opposition lines.

Annandale's Atoms opened the basketball season inauspiciously by losing to J.E.B. Stuart 60-55 on their home court. Craig Etko scored 17 points, and Brad Huther, John Atherton had ten apiece, but it was not enough to down the Raiders.

Having begun the season on the wrong foot, the Atoms then roared back with nine consecutive wins. The season's initial triumph was at the expense of the Fairfax Rebels, who succumbed 57-54. A 63-61 defeat of Lee came next, with Craig Etko scoring 29 points, the high for the team this season. Etko hit for twenty on the nose as the Atoms ripped an inept Hammond squad 59-46 and came back with 18 more against Falls Church, as the Atoms notched a 45-43 win in overtime.

Four players scored in double figures as Groveton fell 67-60. Etko led the parade with 21 points; Atherton and Blankenbaker each had 13. An outclassed James Madison five became the Atoms sixth victim, 74-51. John Staples scored 24 points to lead this rout, and poured through 23 more against George Washington the next time out as the Atoms extended their sheen to seven with a 90-59 romp.

Brad Huther piles up two more points against Lee High.

No. Va. Tourney semi-finals.

Annandale's John Atherton strains for another score in the Annandale-Lee game.

A new school scoring mark was established against Osbourn, as the Atoms swatted the Yellow Jackets 94-45. Atherton, Staples, Blankenbaker, Etko, and Curtis Payne were all in double figures. A 72-69 overtime victory over Stuart's Raiders avenged the opening game defeat and ran the string to nine. John Atherton scored 19 points, followed closely by Etko with 17.

Wakefield's State Champion Warriors ended the Annandale victory trail at nine with a masterful 84-42 romp. Only Bob Blankenbaker was able to hit double figures, scoring 11. The shell-shocked Atoms were then subjected to another 32 minutes of Marty Lentz as he set a Group I scoring mark while beating the Atoms 74-48. Washington-Lee's slow waltz attack won them a 63-49 victory over the Atoms, although Etko scored 17 points and little John Schrieber poured through 12 with his two-hand jump shots.

John Staples goes up for two against Hammond.

Craig Etkamleashes a jump shot against the Warriors at Wakefield.

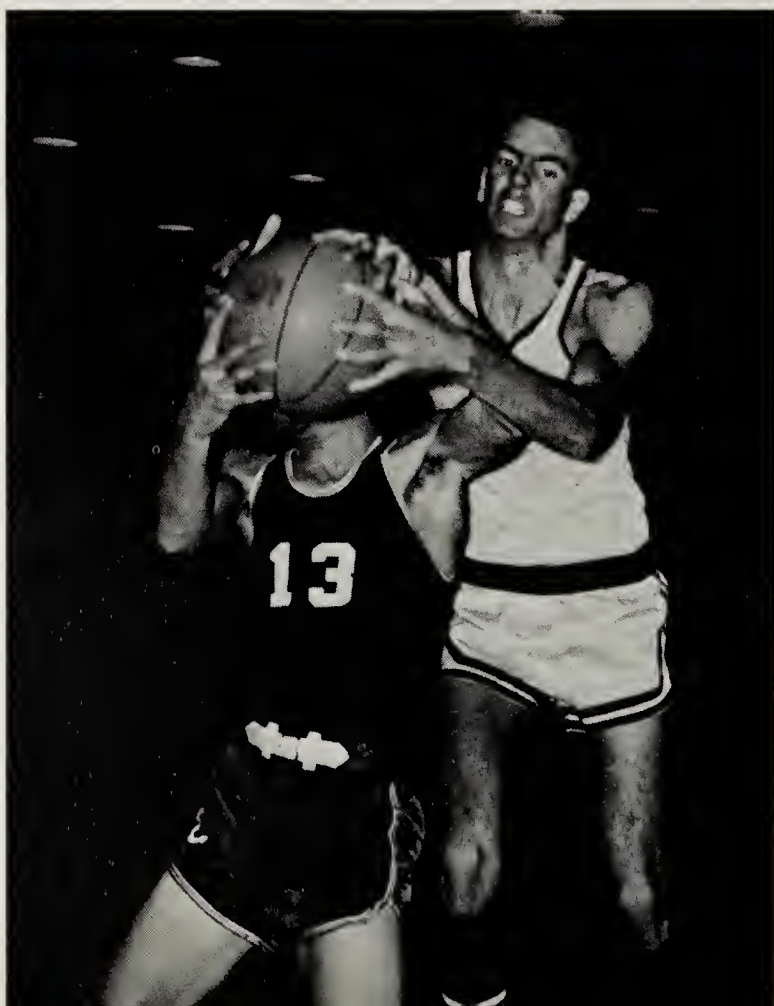

Lee's Lancers fought valiantly, but the Atoms came back from a 15 point third quarter deficit to gain a 62-61 win in a sudden death overtime. Brad Huther scored the winning basket, and Craig Etkam was high with 17. The Atoms were stalled but not stopped by Hammond's Admirals as we took a 47-44 game. The Groveton Tigers found revenge in a 62-55 victory, but Blankenbaker scored 17 to be high for the Atoms.

A determined G. W. five lost out in overtime 63-62, as a lethargic Annandale team nearly threw the game away. McLean's Elliot McBride led the Highlanders to a 57-48 win over a cold-shooting Atom squad that could hit only 22% of its floor shots. This game ended the regular season with Annandale in 4th place, tied with JEB Stuart with a 12-6 record.

The fifth-seated Atoms disposed of JEB Stuart's panicky Raiders by a 65-42 margin the quarterfinals of the Northern Virginia tournament. But the Atoms could advance no further, losing to Group I champ Wakefield 66-47 in the semifinals. John Atherton scored 15 points in a losing cause.

This year's Atoms were perhaps the finest roundball squad in the school's history. Led by Craig Etkam's 15 point average and the fine rebounding of Bob Blankenbaker, John Atherton, and John Staples, the Atoms won 13 of 20 games, truly a fine showing and a credit to their coach, Harry Smith.

Bob Blankenbaker takes possession for Atoms.

Annandale can well be proud of its wrestling team, which went undefeated in this, its second year of existence, winning a Fairfax County Championship in the process. The team won all of its five matches, four of them against County teams. Six Atom grapplers went undefeated: Pat McKinney, Mark Mugaas, Doug Smith, Tom Swan, Dan Jones and team Captain, Scott Swan.

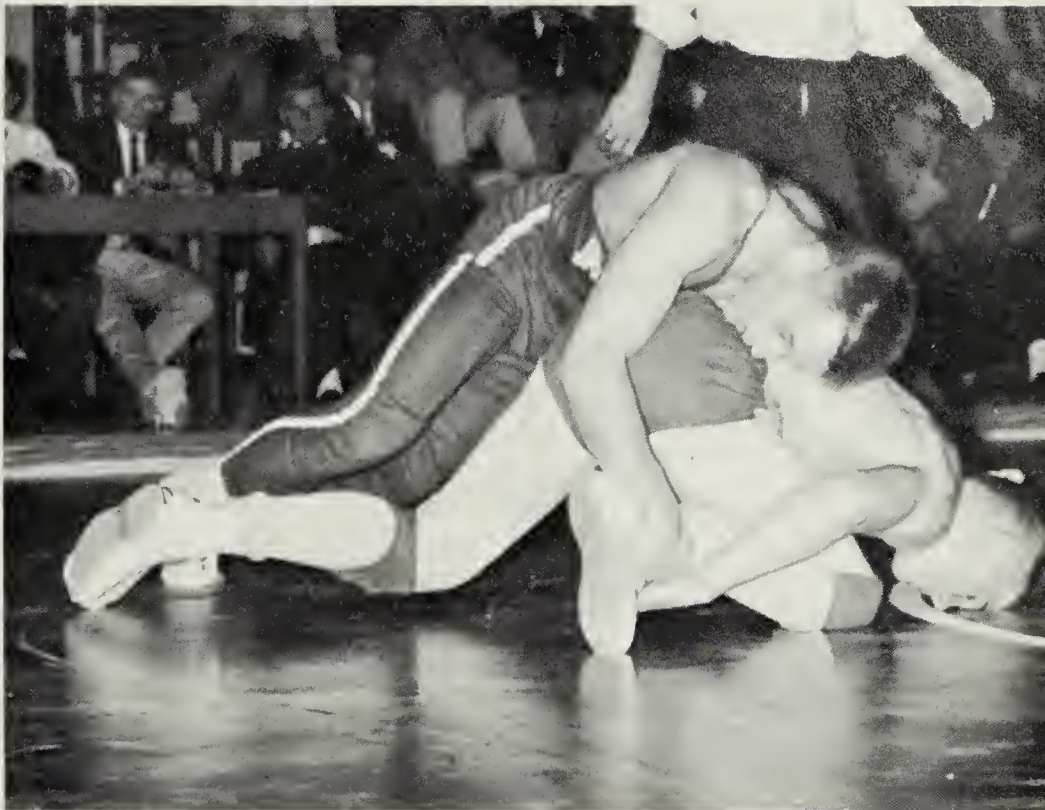

The season opened with a convincing 30-13 defeat of Yorktown, as the Atoms demonstrated they were to be reckoned with. This trend was followed closely with routs of McLean and Groveton, 41-3 and 42-3, respectively. A 35-8 romp over Mt. Vernon preceded the final regular match, which ended in a 36-13 win over the Rebels of Fairfax. It is difficult to single out individual stars, for all of them fought valiantly and skillfully.

The Northern Virginia Wrestling Tournament, held February 17-18 saw several Annandale grapplers emerge with high rankings. Mark Mugaas, Doug Smith, and Steve Sears each finished in second place, losing out to older, more experienced boys. Pat McKinney took third place in his division, and Dan Jones and Scott Swan won fourth place honors. The team finishes third behind W-L and Wakefield and far outdistanced all other Fairfax County Schools, evincing a fine effort and foretelling of good future efforts.

The class of '61 will be laden with memories when they pass through the doors of Annandale High for the last time this June. With pleasure—and a touch of nostalgia—we will look back on our senior year.

It was our last year.

It was a year of beanies and privileges, a year abounding in applications and catalogues. It was a year of hopes and homework, of frustrations and French.

But it was a good year. For some of us, graduation will bring a sigh of relief, and a regular paycheck. Many of us will see beyond the summer, and envision a hazy campus—and even more beanies.

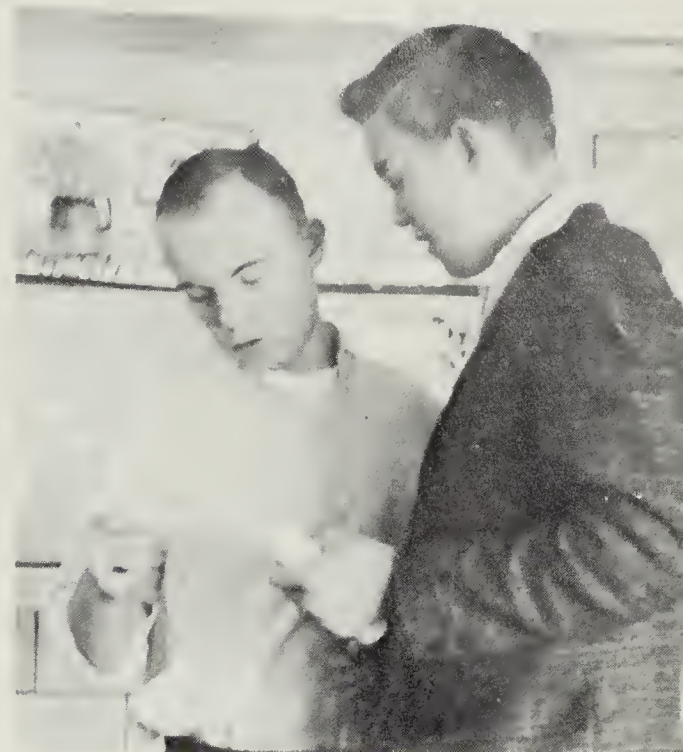

The end of an eventful portion of our lives has arrived, but it is the beginning of a new and exciting portion which we look forward to with eagerness.

Now we are ready to step into the future.

Senior Activities

"Marrying Sam," Ellison Summerfield, is apparently hooked by Ginny Prosise at the Sadie Hawkins Dance.

The senior activities slate was well filled this year. Leading the list was, of course, the Prom, which the juniors presented at the Fairfax Country Club, but all activities were certainly outstanding. The leadership that was necessary for the magazine drive was provided by the seniors. They participated in the activities of all classes, and also managed to broaden their own range of privileges. Several dances were given during the year which were directed and sponsored by the senior class. The senior play, "You Can't Take It With You," was a success, the proceeds from which swelled the senior coffer. Engaged in many projects, the senior class more than filled its activity responsibility.

Annandale's "Little Abner," Jim Bladen, has Gail Griswold in the bag.

This year's magazine drive was launched with enthusiastic support from both the Independents and the Dark Horses.

As another year at Annandale High School draws to a close, the Class of 1962 can pause to look back over three years of high school and forward to one more. Many joys and sorrows are now things of the past. Some old friendships have been broken up, but many new ones have been formed in their stead. Many new things have been done and much new knowledge has been acquired. Now, however, the future seems more important than the past. The last year of high school is almost here. New senior rings are now being proudly displayed, and many Juniors are now thinking seriously about what is to come after high school. Yesterday was pleasant, and it might be nice to tarry a little longer, but tomorrow beckons impatiently, and it cannot be ignored.

Junior Activities

Joyce Fowler and Vicki Mason work on block prints for art class.

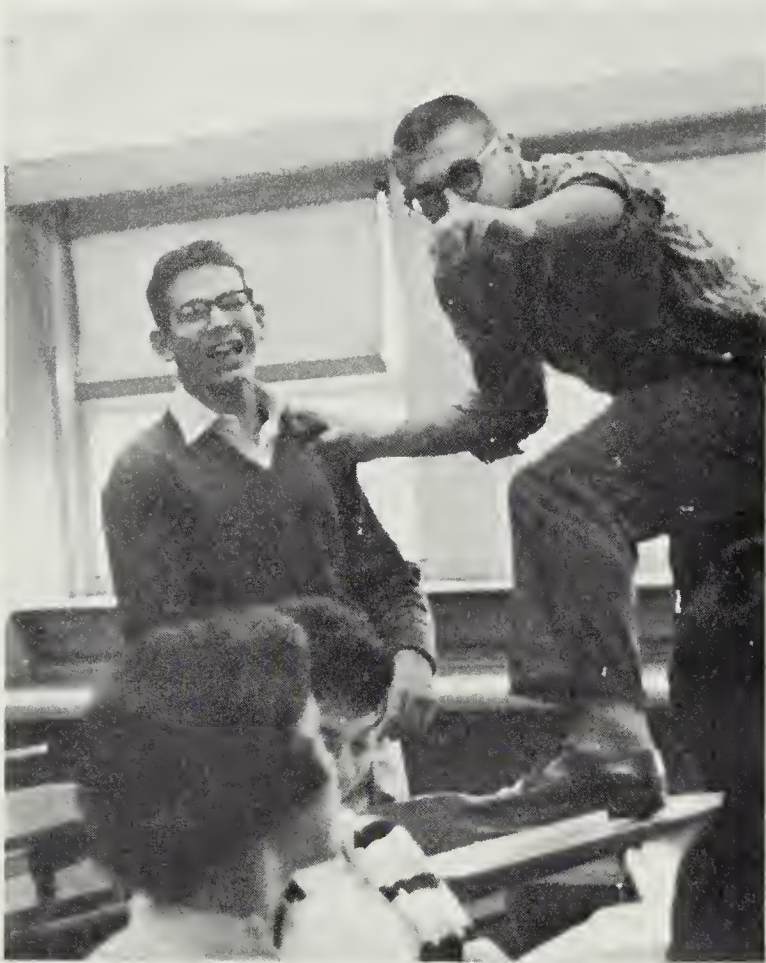

Jeff Camp is overcome by the snow that cancelled junior activities during February.

Sandy Campbell demonstrates her talent by doing a pantomime to music for the Drama Club assembly.

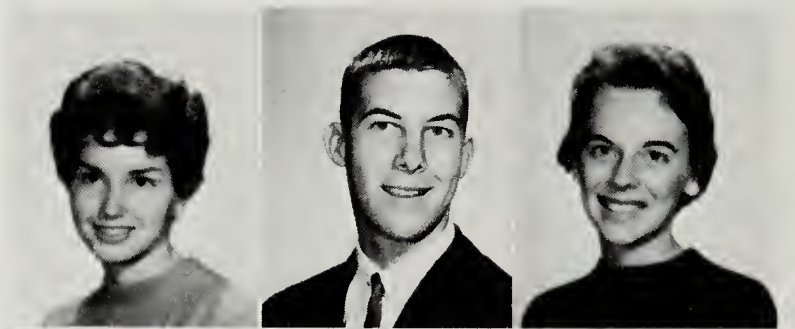

Annandale juniors gather around the tables of plenty, and toast the latest addition to the clique.

This year of 1960-61 does not seem too important to the sophomores at Annandale. This is only for the present though, for when these sophomores view these yearbook pages with adult eyes, they will see how large a year this has been in their life string. The cake sale that was given at the first home football game, the dances that were sponsored, and the riotous unorganized personal activities, will all stand out as warm spots in the sophomore year. This year is not very important now; the end seems more dear than the middle or the beginning. But in the not very distant future will be that last day that lies in unimportant obscurity; those events that seem so trivial now will be momentous then.

Freshman Class Officers

Mr. Henretty, Sponsor

As the school year of 60-61 draws to a close and the old makes way for the new, the freshman class of Annandale ascends the first rung of the high school ladder. Fond memories and acquaintances are sure to dot the old horizon, and the familiarity of the past is difficult to abandon; nevertheless, the present demands that he move on, leaving that to which we are accustomed. Established habits must be forsaken for the untried ones of the future. With pride the freshman class can look back upon the finished year. With eagerness it can view the challenge of the approaching year. New horizons are opened to it. New experiences await it. The new year offers to act as the base from which the class can mount the imminent challenge. With confidence the freshmen are able to approach the impending year, the year which will offer to them a testing ground for their hopes, dreams, and aspirations.

Freshman Follies

Allison Bell's gayly flinging skirts and wild gyrations were reminiscent of a bygone era.

Gail Hagstrom and Judy Ralph were soft shoe performers at the Freshman Follies.

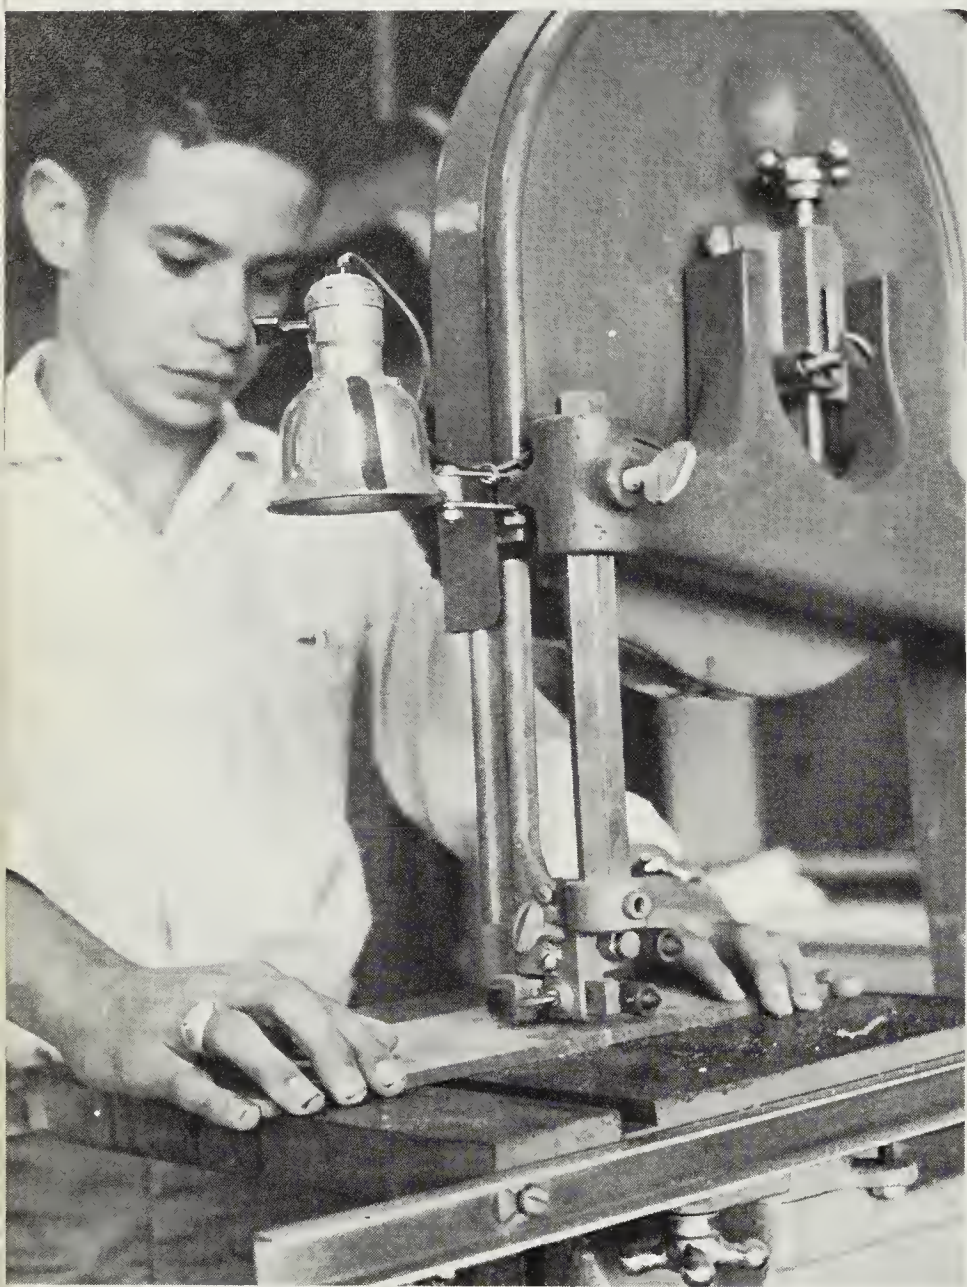

This year the freshman class decided to show the Upperclassmen that it had talent and spirit. Under the skillful direction of freshman English teacher Mr. Henretty, the class put on a show to top all shows—the Freshman Follies. They starred themselves and sold standing room in the auditorium. Parents and upperclassmen were soon roaring with laughter as the freshmen presented their version of “St. George and the Dragon” (who couldn’t see very well) and Brenda Lee (whose dress didn’t fit in back). Sara Frizzell, Joanne Cockley, Pat Brown, and Allison Bell brought back the Roaring Twenties with the Big Apple. The program was highlighted and terminated by the faculty’s riotous satire on the tale of “Pokyhunuus (Mrs. Talmadge) and Captain John Smith” (Mr. Gill).

Darling Don Stover, escorted by Mr. Henretty, made his/her debut at the Freshman Follies.

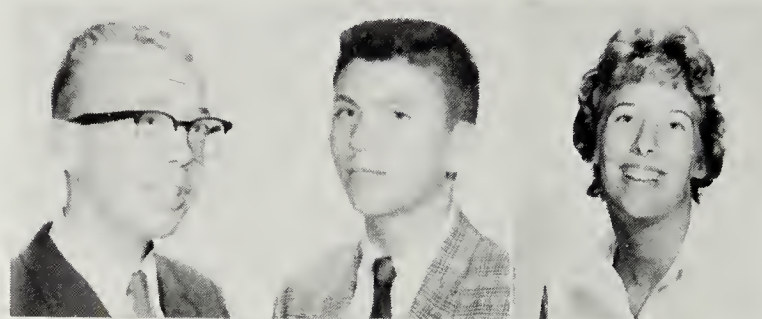

“Would you care to say a few words into the Mike?” Merry Stacer asks of Denis Calebrese.
